FAVORS.—The Editor and Proprietors of THE CONSTITUTION tender thanks to Col. E. Holbert, Superintendent Western and Atlantic Railroad, for courtesies tendered during the year.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE CITY.—At a meeting of Council Tuesday night THE CONSTITUTION, by resolution, having been declared "the official organ of the city for the year 1869," we tender our grateful acknowledgements to that body for the position. Hand in hand with the Council THE CONSTITUTION will be an earnest co-laborer in the success of all measures having for their object the interest and prosperity of Atlanta.

Immigration to Georgia.

We present for the consideration of the Legislature, soon to assemble in this city, the views of the Commissioner of Immigration for the State of Tennessee, who has been spending several days in Atlanta, in attendance on the Railroad Convention.

The subject of immigration is one of vital import to the people of this State, and we are pleased with the opportunity of giving them with the views of one who has attended on the subject:

ATLANTA, GA., Jan. 5, 1869.

Editor Constitution.—Dear Sir: In the report which I had the honor of transmitting to you, I speak of the measures adopted by the Board of Immigration of our State in order to draw to it an intelligent and industrious immigration, of the steps taken to obtain special information with regard to the several counties of the State, and of the channels through which that information had been conveyed to the North and to Germany. I refer to the fact that the results of my labors thus far are to be found in the number of immigrants actually drawn here by my instrumentality, and to the interest I have been enabled to excite in the subject of immigration among a large portion of the people of the State of Tennessee and of the Southern States; and also to the hopeful character of the extensive correspondence I am carrying on. With regard to the value of immigration, I state that population is the true basis of the wealth of nations, that by it the State is a gainer, not only in the bone and sinew which the immigrants bring along with them, but also from the fact that in the same measure as immigration improves the material interests of the State, it also furnishes the means necessary for the advancement of its intellectual and religious interests.

From this brief outline of the course I have adopted, you may justly infer that our State, by pursuing a similar course will arrive at similar results.

The first step, I judge, would be the creation of a Board of Immigration and the election of a Commissioner, then would come the organizing of an Immigration Society in each county, and the transmission of the information obtained in the several counties to the Parent Board, and its being gathered up in a hand-book of Georgia, then, proper agencies will be employed to throw the information before the public of the North and of Europe. If the appropriation suffices, there will be an office and an agent established in the city of New York, and another agent will be sent for a time, at least, to Germany. The Convention I am now attending is likely to establish rates for immigrants, which will insure very favorable results on the general interests of Immigration in the South.

HERMANN BOKUM,
Commissioner of Immigration
for the State of Tennessee.

Social and Political Resurrection.

We commend to our readers, and especially to the young enterprise of the South, a eloquent picture of the future prosperity and renown, drawn by a writer in the last number of DeBow's Review, in the conclusion of an able paper entitled "Ex-Slaves:" "Our young men have lost their slave-property. Very well," argues this practical philosopher, "they never held their liberties by the tenure of another man's bondage. If they have been deprived of the accumulated and funded wealth of centuries by the wrong of a civil war, let them show the world that they can maintain their standard and station in society by other means. They can assume the management of a mine, of a forge, of a mill, of a factory, of a vessel. They will command capital and direct subordinate numbers. They can cultivate literary and scientific tastes. They may accumulate wealth. Rear children amid all that luxury can bestow. They may command political consideration. They may instruct applauding Senates. They may lead armies. In all these things, as well as in the culture of the mind, men of honor and intelligence may command influence and respect. They may attain the highest degree of honor to which human character can aspire. These men may accumulate and retain capital within the South. They may invite members and enterprise. They may organize all the arts of agricultura, manufactures and commerce. From these will result power, which alone can maintain rights or exact rights. The want of these elements has enslaved the South. The possession of the same rights will set the slave free once more. Free in the influence he will command in the Union, and the respect which is alone paid in the world to those who are strong enough to assert and vindicate their own rights, if necessary, by the only means which fallen humanity allows. But there is not only a direct political influence to be gained, in right of the wealth and numbers which result from a material policy, but the organization of these interests will ally to them others similar or reciprocal which exist elsewhere. The consentiality of interests between those who produce and those who consume between both these interests and those who conduct the commercial exchanges between them is too obvious to require exposition. The control which a people who both grow and spin cotton have over those who wear cotton is too significant to justify more than its mention.

But how can the young men carry out all these interests? Only through their representatives. The character of Southern representation must be changed. The were once elected upon the theory that argument and evidence was only needed for the maintenance of our rights. Legislators of metaphysical minds, or high powers of declamation, were then chosen. We now need sound thinkers and practical workers. Men of fact and figures. We need schools for practical mechanics and applied science. Public appropriations for cotton mills, steam-ships, for opening mines and forging iron, for producing all that we possibly can at home. For employing the poor and repairing the social dilapidation of war. This class of men must be sought out, and with their aid the natural powers of the South will be made available. Its wealth, skill and numbers will substantively entitle us to respect, and in alliance with similar or reciprocal interests will compel respect. The industrial and political harmonies of the Union restored, the physical and financial power of the South established, she will again resume her position in the national councils, and in the national consideration. In that hour her exodus from the house of bondage will be complete. She will have thrown off her shackles and repulsed the hand of arbitrary and insulting authority. She will be again primus inter pares. All this will have been effected without the violation of a law or the exile of a citizen. The social and political resurrection of the South will be eternal. There will be no second death for her."

Cheering View of the South from Northern Stand-points.

The New York Herald of the 28th inst., says:

"The advocates of a contraction of the national currency would do well to study certain facts in connection with the monetary statements of the banks of this city for the past few weeks. It appears that greenbacks have been going to the South for some time past at the rate of about $300,000 a day. This money goes to stay. It goes to pay for the cotton crop, and as the South is not in debt to the North it will not come back again. In olden times the planters, in their luxury and extravagance, used to live beyond their means, and frequently brought goods and borrowed money in New York before the cotton was even put in the ground. The war has changed all this. Our merchants do a strictly cash business with the South, and the tendency among the Southerners themselves is to do a cash business with each other. The present cotton crop is, therefore, unmortgaged. The money will be used in great part to expand cotton culture and the other industries of the South. Of course a portion of it will come back some time hence in purchase of machinery and manufactured goods, but the great bulk of it will remain where it has gone. The banks will get the money back when the cotton is sold to Europe. The distribution of greenbacks over the South and West will relieve the redundancy complained of and bring their value eventually to a par with gold. The cotton crop this year is estimated at 2,000,000 bales. In 1860, just before the war, it reached almost 6,000,000 bales. What is to prevent the annual crop from being expanded to this, or a still greater quantity? Cotton is our gold. An excessive cotton crop in the future would make our p per money worth a premium.

The New York World discusses the past Southern products will play in the financial future of this country as follows:

"Money is becoming dearer in New York, the money centre of this continent, because the Southern States require more of it for the legitimate purpose of handling their increased crops. Europe has been draining the nation of its accumulated surplus by its manufactured products in exchange for five-twenty bonds at 70 cents on the dollar to be paid hereafter at 100, and now the South is going to drain Europe by selling its cotton at a high price. Stock speculators in Wall street may grumble at this scarce or "dear money," owing to increased activity in commerce; but thoughtful men will be gladdened thereby, as evidence that our wealth-making machines are once more in active motion. This year's Southern crops will add to the national wealth, not $300,000,000 worth of greenback dollars worth 70 cents from the government printing presses at Washington, but $300,000,000 more in dollars worth 100 cents, in cotton, tobacco, sugar, and other products for which Europe contends with America as a buyer on Southern soil.

"The details, therefore, of the wonderful strides with which this creation of new wealth progresses in the South are not only of a practical or cash interest to every banker and merchant, but to every thoughtful friend to progress. Take, for example, only one week's trade in cotton this season, and compare the same with that of the corresponding period of last year, and the whimperings of the currency-mongers for more printing-press dollars will be silenced by the natural growth of the real article, or sub-stratum of all currency. This year, one week's cotton receipts, say 93,000 bales, at 23 cents, produce about $9,625,500 whilst the same quantity last year, when the price was only fourteen cents, realized $5,859,000, showing a gain to the South this year of over 60 per cent. above the price realized last year. The civilized world is thus pouring into the South about $4,000,000 a week more this year than last for the production of cotton alone. Furthermore, the cotton of last season was 2,431,000 bales. This season the most careful estimates range from 2,700,000 to 3,000,000 bales. The average price of last year, say eighteen cents per pound, made the aggregate amount of the whole crop about $195,000,000. This year, assuming the lowest estimate 2,700,000 bales, at 23 cents, will realize about $280,000,000. In other words, the South will realize for its cotton crop this year $85,000,000 more in "very hard cash" than it did last year. Moreover, last year the planters were in debt to factors and other capitalists, who cleaned them out of every surplus dollar of profit. On the contrary, this year the planters are far from debt, and are independent of factors and money-lenders. They have been forced into managing their affairs judiciously and with the strictest economy, so that they will now enjoy the full amount of their enormous profits this year free from deduction for advances made to them at high rates of interest which brought them to the verge of destitution last year.

"Cotton is not alone the great source of wealth in the South. The sugar crop of Louisiana is growing into another great Southern interest. This year the crop is estimated at 125,000 hogsheads of sugar and 200,000 barrels of molasses, worth at current prices over $20,000,000 against 38,000 hogsheads of sugar last year and the same proportion of molasses, or, in round figures, a total of not one-third of the production this season. Next year it is within bounds to say that 250,000 hogsheads of sugar will be produced, because the planters generally in Louisiana are retaining a large portion of their cane for seed. In some instances the entire crop of plantations has been reserved for this purpose.

"In view of this wonderful rebound towards prosperity in the South, it is not, therefore, surprising that Southern securities are coming into great demand with our shrewd capitalists here. Every security South of Mason and Dixon's line is at the present time at the lowest point they will be for years, perhaps forever. The South has seen its worst days. Southern capital will naturally seek first their own securities for investment, even at high prices; but when we consider that at present they average only about sixty cents on the dollar, the inducements to buy are greatly enhanced. With government bonds selling at ten per cent. above par, and Southern State and Municipal bonds at about forty per cent. below par, it is not a question where the Southern surplus capital this year will flow. When this surplus finds its way into the bonds of States like Louisiana and Alabama that have never defaulted, then par will be their minimum price."

ATLANTA MATTERS.—On New Year's night, Mayor Williams and his Board of Aldermen, turned over the city government to Col. Hulsey, the Mayor elect, and the new Board. THE CONSTITUTION of Saturday, contained the farewell address of the old Mayor and the inaugural of the new. Both were well gotten up documents and pretty much on the same line. After a few well merited compliments to the police force and fire department, the addresses mainly consisted of congratulations upon the present condition and future prospects of our wonderful neighbor, which sprang from nothing, and for no apparent cause, and bids fair to equal or eclipse the great marts of the nation.

Mayor Williams has, for the past two years, faithfully, ably, and successfully guarded and protected the interests of Atlanta, and we apprehend he leaves the "chair of state" with as many friends as "any other man."

Mayor Hulsey is a very young man, and we suppose some old fogies will say he don't know how to "run the machine;" but we see no good reason why he should not make as good a Mayor as though the frosts of many winters had bleached his head, or the froth of many a sparkling draught had clouded and besorged his intellect. We "welcome the coming and speed the parting" officers. The following is a list of city officers elected on the same occasion—most of whom we know, and can vouch for their being good and faithful men, especially the Sexton Dexter. He can do anything in his line except raising the dead, and perhaps he was even suspected of that in earlier days. We congratulate him upon stepping from the editorial tripod, where he was engaged in healing the State of its most foul and hideous political disease, to that office which gives him the opportunity to heal the unfortunates of Atlanta of their corporeal ailments. May he be equally successful.—Griffin Star.

EXTRAVAGANCE IN NEW YORK CHURCHES—HOW THEY ARE DEEP IN DEBT.—Our people were greatly surprised at the rumor that the Rev. Dr. Osgood, of the Messiah Church, had resigned. He occupies one of the most costly and commanding church edifices in New York. He has been in New York nearly twenty years. Succeeding Dr. Dewey in 1849, he at once took rank among the foremost preachers of New York. Removing from the lower part of the city, a church edifice costing over $250,000 was erected, and has just been consecrated. The financial troubles and reverses have embarrassed the society to such an extent that Dr. Osgood tendered his letter of resignation. A meeting of his friends was called, and, at their earnest solicitation, the letter was withdrawn. The pressing indebtedness of the church is about $100,000. One gentleman offered to pay the interest on $50,000 for one year.

This up-town business is becoming rather serious. Crowded in a narrow space in upper New York are more costly churches than can be found in the same space probably in the Christian world. They were built when merchants were flush, and land, building materials and labor very high. Most of the congregations worshipping in these expensive affairs left not only their down-town churches when they moved, but their congregations also. A handful of aristocratic, wealthy people, with from $200,000 to $300,000 in their treasury, obtained from the sale of their down-town property, can build a very expensive and fashionable house of worship, but they can't fill it with a congregation after it is built. It is melancholy to look in on the handful of people that compose the average of up-town congregations. On a pleasant morning, by the aid of people who come from the lower part of the city, a respectable congregation can be gathered. But the second service is lean enough and might as well be abandoned. Most of these new churches are immensely in debt. Commercial reverses have wiped away the resources on which the congregation relied. More than one fashionable establishment is reeling under a debt that may prove its extinction.—Chicago Post.

THE UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT IN VIRGINIA.—WASHINGTON, January 3, 1869.—The conference just held in Richmond by the leading politicians of Virginia, and which was anticipated in this correspondence, is now the subject of much interesting speculation among those of our statesmen who are really anxious to have peace. Judge Baldwin writes to a prominent member of the Senate: "Virginia desires a full restoration of peace and fraternal feeling. She is willing to accept universal suffrage with universal amnesty, and it is for Congress to say whether the sun of prosperity shall again shine upon the ancient commonwealth." Judge B. begs that the dominant party in Congress may act wisely, patriotically and speedily in relieving not only Virginia but the whole country from the present fearful depression. The committee, composed of seven well known Virginians, will urge upon Congress immediate action upon the proposition stated some days since in this correspondence, and they hope to be able to make an encouraging report to the convention which is to assemble in Richmond next Thursday week to prepare a constitution, to be submitted to the people along with the infamous one concocted by the late convention of carpet-baggers. The few members of Congress who are here express a willingness to favor the scheme of Judge Baldwin and his associates, and give the people of Virginia an opportunity to vote as suggested.

THE EXCESS OF WOMEN.—The excess of women in America, it has been recently admitted as a physiological fact, is in the United States about six per cent. Old England and New England are becoming more and more the countries of old maids. The latest census returns in the former country show 610,000 more women than men, and the proportion in New England is almost two women to one man. Indeed, in some of the country districts this ratio is far greater in favor of the sex. A writer in the North British Review, however, asserts that there is a preponderance of the male sex born into the world, but that boys or men die at a faster rate than females, so that toward the age of eighteen the sexes are about equal in number; and after that age women preponderate. How much of sweetness is wasting itself on the desert air!

COTTON.—Our report of the cotton market this morning ought to inspire all our readers with a most cheerful feeling in regard to the immediate future. Money will certainly be abundant. Not only the planters will be full-handed, but the speculators who had the nerve to purchase when there was no margin for profits between this and the New York market, will now realize a handsome dividend upon their investment. This is, indeed, most gratifying. We desired first that the planter should receive such a reward for his labor this year as would relieve him from the losses of the last, and after that, if the speculators could make anything, we were perfectly willing they should do so. Our desires in both respects are now realized, and we heartily congratulate all concerned.—Macon Telegraph, 6th.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Gen. Meade reports to Grant as follows:

"I transmit the latest dispatches from Gen. Sibley regarding the Ogechee difficulties. Sibley has been instructed to forbid armed organizations, white or black, and to preserve peace at all hazards; to cooperate with the civil authorities in case he finds civil authorities acting in good faith, and that their action is necessary to preserve peace, and not, as at Camilla, where the law made a pretext for outrage upon negroes; at the same time, Sibley was instructed to disarm and disperse all assemblages of negroes, and require their submission to civil authority."

The balance of the report embraces the account of the Ogechee affair already published.

The Treasury debt statement for January shows an increase over the December statement of seventeen hundred thousand dollars. Total debt, twenty-six hundred and fifty-two million, five hundred and thirty-three thousand, six hundred and sixty-two dollars. Amount of coin in the Treasury, ninety-eight million, seven hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars; amount of currency, thirteen million dollars; gold certificates, twenty-seven million dollars.

HOUSE.—The Secretary of War asked a number of troops employed in Texas and Virginia how many citizens and how many were engaged in rebellion.

The political disabilities of J. G. Stokes, of Alabama, were removed.

The House went into Committee on the appropriations and pension bill appropriating thirteen and a half millions of dollars. Passed.

The diplomatic appropriation, after voting down the amendment restoring the mission to Rome, was postponed.

Adjourned.

SENATE.—Executive reports regarding Indians, etc., were printed.

The Judiciary Committee reported a bill forbidding the holding of two offices, civil or military, at the same time.

The Committee on Agriculture reported a bill reorganizing the agricultural bureau, securing the appointment from each State familiar with local wants.

Sue Murphy's case was resumed and discussed to adjournment.

The Grand Jury ignored a new indictment against Surratt.

Governor Bullock, of Georgia, is here.

The cost of printing fractional currency to date, is one million and a quarter.

PLYMOUTH, Jan. 6.—The British ship Southern Empire, foundered. All lost. The Southern Empire sailed last from New Orleans with cotton for Liverpool, on the 13th of November.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Rising Star has arrived from Aspinwall with half a million.

RICHMOND, Jan. 6.—The State Treasurer having written Gen. Stoneman recommending the payment to members of the State Constitutional Convention of the balance due them, Stoneman replies, that having consulted Secretary Scofield, who commanded the District at the time the Convention was in session, he declined to issue an order for the payment of said balance.

Revenue collections in this District last year were $700,000, being nearly $200,000 more than in 2867.

The State press, as far as heard from, stands as follows on the new movement for universal suffrage, with the hope of universal amnesty: In favor of it, eleven Democratic papers, and against it, eight Democratic and two Republican papers.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—There was a dullness in Paris bourse, and a material decline in rentes yesterday. It is said to be attributable to Russia's demands on Turkey.

MACON AND WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.—The annual meeting of the Directors of this road was held here yesterday. The old Board, with the exception of Col. L. N. Whittle in the place of Mr. Varner, deceased, was re-elected, and stands as follows:

A. J. White, President.

DIRECTORS.—John B. Ross, T. G. Holt, W. C. Redding, Peter Solomon, L. N. Whittle, L. D. Mowry, Edward Padelford, Andrew Low, J. C. Levy, Charles Myran, Wm. D. Thompson, Adam Norris.—Macon Journal and Messenger, 6th.

THE COTTON MARKET YESTERDAY.—One thousand and sixty-four bales of cotton changed hands in Macon yesterday, at prices ranging from twenty-five to twenty-five and a half cents. About one hundred and twenty thousand dollars changed hands in these transactions during the day. It was the largest day's work of the season so far, and may probably not be excelled during the winter.—Macon Telegraph, 6th.

☞ The Augusta Factory declared a quarterly dividend of five per cent. on the 2d instant. This shows how productive Southern manufactures can be made when in competent hands. We hope, before the lapse of five years, to see many millions invested in that way in our State. There is no surer source of population and wealth.—Savannah Republican.

The above is the order of the docket of the December Term, 1868, of said Court, which will resume its session on the Second Monday in January, 1869

The first six circuits have been disposed of, except one case from the Middle, which was placed in them from the Northern circuit by consent, and three other cases taken to the heretofter docket.

When the Court took recess, one of the continued cases and Nos 1, 3 and 5 of the regular cases had been argued. The other continued case had been put to the heel of that Circuit by consent.

No. 3 of the Cherokee Circuit will be in order for argument at 10 o'clock, A. M., on Monday, the 11th inst. (That Monday will not be used for consultation)

We will get from the Reporter, every evening at the close of the Court, the exact status of the business, and publish it next morning, so that the counsel abroad may not be kept in uncertainty as to the probable time when they will be needed.

TOBACCO.—We would call special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Jordan, Howard & Haralson, which appears in our columns this morning. They are extensive dealers in the weed, always having on hand a large and excellent stock of tobaccos. By prompt attention to their business, and fair dealing, they are doing well. We recommend them to country merchants who visit our city to purchase their supplies.

THE RURAL SOUTHERNER.—The January number of the Southerner, containing much valuable information for the farm and garden, as well as choice literary and miscellaneous matter, is before us. Our young friend. S. A. Echols, editor, displays commendable zeal and high order of intelligence in the cause of agriculture. We bid him good-speed in the work.

FINE PORTRAIT OF GEN. COBB.—At the Gallery of Dill & Maier, we were shown by Mrs. Dr. Johnson, on yesterday, a life-size portrait of her lamented brother, Howell Cobb, painted from a photograph of the General, by Mr. Maier, which, besides being executed in the finest style of the art, is as true as nature to life.

We are glad to know that the relations and friends of the deceased have secured a likeness of him almost perfect in lineament, feature and expression. No one who had ever seen the distinguished Georgian would fail to recognise the portrait at a glance.

THE NEW STATE CAPITOL.—Yesterday being bright and beautiful, we concluded, from the observatory of the new capitol, to take a glance at the city. The view of Kennesaw and Stone Mountains was distinct in the silver sunshine. We wondered how long before these granite fortresses of nature would be but the outposts of this extending city. The new capitol, by the way, is a perfect gem. In taste, style, finish and convenience, there is no public building in the South comparable to it. Besides being an ornament to the city, it reflects great credit upon the Messrs. Kimball, for the convenience and comfort of its design, as well as the elegant manner in which the work has been executed. Looking upon the surroundings, we wondered what had become of the new hotel enterprise on the lot opposite, of which rumor made mention a few days since. The site is a splendid one, and we would be glad to know that the erection of a magnificent hotel upon it was a fixed fact.

CENTRAL RAILROAD AND BANKING COMPANY OF GEORGIA.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central Railroad and Banking Company, held yesterday, the present Board of Directors were re-elected to serve for the ensuing year, viz: W. M. Wadley, Andrew Low, John Wilder, William B. Johnston, General F. Gilmer, George W. Wylly, John Cunningham, Edward Padelford and Geo. J. Anderson. The Board will meet today for the purpose of electing a President.—Savannah Advertiser.

It is said that the proprietors of the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS rent no less than nine pews from the different denominations in New York city for all those of their employees who will occupy them regularly, free of charge. This is certainly praiseworthy, and it is to be hoped that others who employ a large number of people, will follow the example. The above fact, accompanied with the belief that a firm who would look so closely after the morals and welfare of their employees, would not undertake to impose upon the public, has induced us to give the PLANTATION BITTERS a trial, and having found them to be all that is represented, we cordially recommend them as a tonic of rare merit.—Observer, July 1st.

IT WILL WASH!

THIS VALUABLE IMPROVEMENT that has met with such unbounded success throughout the East, West, and North and the parts of the South where it has been introduced,
IS NOW ON EXHIBITION AND FOR SALE AT THE STORE OF Echols, Langford & McCrath,
Key Stone Block,
Whitehall street,
Atlanta, Georgia,
Where we cordially invite all to call and see its operation. The idea of washing clothes without rubbing or wear to the material is now no longer a mystery. It is being practically used, and with entire satisfaction by many of the best citizens of this city, and hundreds and thousands of people throughout the East and West.
Mr. DeWitt is owner of the Southern and Pacific States and Territories for this valuable invention, and will sell interests by the County and State, to any one wishing to use and paying business as prices that cannot but suit the purchaser.
States and Counties that have been sold for this improvement have since sold at enormous figures in comparison to the price we ask. For instance, Illinois was sold for $6 000 and since sold for $40, 000; counties in Kentucky, that we sold for $60 by the State has since sold for $800, and I can safely say that scarce no man has invested his money but what is making a fortune. We can give name and address of nearly every one that has purchased rights in the United States, so parties can correspond with them and get their views on the investments they made.
For territory by Counties or States address or call on HENRY WELLINGTON,

COTTON MANUFACTURE.

Our Advantages as Producers of the Raw Material.

From the Memphis Ledger, Dec. 24.]

We reproduced from the Nashville Banner, a couple of weeks ago, an article covering a report of W. E. Jackson, President of the Augusta (Georgia) Cotton Manufacturing Company. The article was well-timed, encouraging and convincing, and has been republished extensively throughout the country. The Northern press attempts to parry the effect of the blow, which has established the fact that a manufactory located here will pay better for coarse and heavy goods than it will at the North. But they cannot deny the facts and results stated in the report of the President. We are glad that they are stirred up and alarmed about it. It will beget investigation, which is all we need to bring manufacturing capital among us, especially when it is guaranteed immunity and protection, as our Legislature, to its credit, proposes to do. We have long known that for coarse goods, say No. 16 shirtings and heavier fabrics, we had a great advantage for the manufacture. Our coarse cottons cost more freight to the North than the finer qualities, and by the time they return to us as manufactured goods, we buy them back again at a cost of two to one, which would be saved to our own people, if manufactured here. If we sell a pound of cotton for twenty cents which will make three yards of shirtings, we buy it back again as shirtings at forty cents; and twenty cents has gone for freights, insurance, commissions, jobbers' profits and manufacturing. It is paid to support a people not our own, and to the detriment of our own section. When we had slaves it may have been more profitable on account of their health, and insurance on their lives, and their greatest efficiency in the field, to employ labor in the production of the staple alone. But that objection is removed with the abolition of slavery.

And how we can save to ourselves the whole profit if we manufacture at home, and save the expenses of freight, commissions and profits in passing from hand to hand. The advantage is great beyond what is supposed by any who have not made the calculation. We are laggards in enterprise if we do not look into the matter. We hope the discussion will open the eyes of shrewd Northern capitalists, and that they will avail themselves of it. They will find open arms and great kindness and every encouragment and aid from our people, if they come here. The Banner is doing a good work in ventilating the matter, and the Northern capitalists are beginning to be stirred up and their manufacturers to take alarm at the prospect of the competition. More is to be made by manufacturing than by producing the staple, and we are glad to find that the whole North, as well as the South, is beginning to see it. With the Georgia factory results and indeed with most other of our few factories, we challenge a comparison with any factories of the North for the profits made, which are in excess of theirs. This fact must bring capital down as soon as it is understood. Factories established here will make one hundred per cent. more on coarse fabrics than they can in any Northern State, as the illustration by the Georgia and other cotton mills have already clearly demonstrated. A Northern paper answers that the Georgia factory is an exceptional case, and is managed by shrewd Yankees who know how to economize and turn a penny. Very well. Let them come on and make their pile, if this is the reason. But the true reason is in the saving of expenses in freights, insurance, and profits before alluded to. And other shrewd Yankees will find it out, and profit by it, we may hope. Our climate suits better, fuel is cheaper, land cheaper to raise supplies for laborers, and wages will be no greater and perhaps less than in the North. The cotton is at our door, and beginning with the cheapest and selling the dearest, we can manufacture coarse fabrics cheaper than they can be laid at our doors from manufactories in any other part of the world. And they who undertake to do it, whether our own people or welcome new-comers, will grow rich by the operation.

PROPHITT'S REMEDIES:
Prophitt's Liver Medicine.
Prophitt's Pain Kill It.
Prophitt's Anti-Bilious Pills.
The excellent remedies of O. S. Prophitt, M. D., need no recommendation. Their well known power in removing the diseases peculiar to our Southern Climate, having already established for them an enviable reputation in Georgia and the adjoining States. As the majority of persons living in the South are predisposed to disease of the Liver, it is granted by all intelligent physicians that most of the pills and aches of our people are due to organic or functional derangement of that important organ. Prophitt's Anti-Bilious Pills and Liver Medicine strike directly at the root of the evil. They cure the Liver which, in nine cases out of ten, is at the bottom of the Coughs, Dyspepsia, Colic, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Constipation, Menstrual Obstructions, etc., so common among our people; Earache Toothache, Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and bodily pains of every kind. THE undersigned is pleased to announce to his friends and the public that he has again come in possession of this time-honored journal, and expects to devote his entire time to making it, as a newspaper, second to none in the South. The liberal patronage of the past nine and better years, while the REPUBLICAN was under his charge, encourages him to hope that, by prompt and continued support the public will enable him to carry this purpose into effect.
To the Merchants of the South, especially of his own State, he looks with confidence for a general support, promising them, in return, the best news, commercial and political journal that his experience and capabilities can produce.
